

All the 100-Point Wines from Our 2020 Cellar Selections

BY WINE ENTHUSIAST

If it's true excellence you seek, these 100-point wines are as close to perfect as you'll find this year. This list includes storied Barolo and Brunello from Italy; Tokaji from Hungary; Grand Cru Champagne; and Cabernet from Napa Valley and much more.

It may be difficult to not open these gems immediately, but with time in the cellar, the payoff will be worth the wait. This curated list from our Top 100 Cellar Selections will be the perfect addition to your distinct collection.

Heitz 2014 Martha's Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon (Napa Valley); $275, 100 points.

From the famous Oakville site, this aged wine spends three years in 100% new French oak, one in neutral oak and an additional year in bottle. Though it has had time to evolve, it has years to go to unfurl its core of eucalyptus, mint and cedar. It shows an unmistakable crispness of red fruit, orange peel and stone, all honed by a grippy, generous palate. Enjoy 2024–2034. Cellar Selection. —Virginie Boone
